What is the problem?

The Strom Thurmond Wellness Center can become super crowded at times, making it difficult for students to exercise feasibly.

Who is experiencing the problem?

Students and Faculty at USC face difficulties while working out when the gym is too crowded.

Where does the problem present itself?

The problem is relevant at the Strom Thurmond Wellness Center.

Why does it matter?

The problem matters because exercise is a key component of one's overall health, and being able to maximize this would improve the well-being of all students.
